

Uffing, Germany, April 2015

In April 2015 a new tracking app for the iPhone will be released: run.App run.App stands for simplicity with full functionality - just like the spirit of Apple's philosophy.

run.App provides:

- simple operation
- Ready to go - without the hassle of a registration
- extensive features
- all data are stored on the iPhone
- modern design

run.App has clever details which are missed in other apps:

- Start with AutoPause: As soon as you run the tracking starts automatically
- Remote control: Workout and music starts with a single click at the earbud remote
- Time-Target: Deviations from this chosen time will be announced during the run and detailed statistics are presented after the run
- Automatic pause of the tracking during phone calls
- Display: The most important data is displayed on the lock screen
- Settings: All settings are always available and can be changed even during an active tracking session
- Dashboard: Configure the dashboard with some simple touch gestures (also available during an active tracking session)

run.App is free for 2 month, after this test phase it's a favorable one-time fee of $ 4.99 / € 4,99.

Sales release: April 2015

Compatibility

- run.App requires iOS 7.0 or later
- In iOS 8 run.App supports iCloud and Health
